The role of the Tatmadaw in modern day Burma : an analysis / Zaiton bte Johari. – 2000. XVI, 94 p., bibliogr. p. 89-92. – Monterey, Calif., Naval Postgraduate School, M.A. in International Security and Civil-Military Relations), March 2000.
Note: The Tatmadaw (Burmese Army) has dominated Burma's politics since the Japanese and British occupation of Burma until today. Its role in Burma has received international attention, especially while other countries in Southeast Asia have seen the decline of military power, the most recent that being Indonesia. The Tatmadaw seems unshaken with all the recent development affecting the military institution in Southeast Asia. This study is significant in that it attempts to understand how the Tatmadaw can continue to play an important role in the politics of Burma despite popular opposition. From this study, much will be learned about how Burma's military managed to sustain its rule. It also tries to provide an answer as to why the Tatmadaw has become what it is today.

Note: A discourse on contemporary Burma, covering Burma's foreign policy, various political crises, and the role of the Communist Bloc in Burma. Observations are made concerning (1) the political and economic stability of Burma as an independent nation, (2) the reasons for a strong anti-Communist attitude in Burmese politics, (3) the possibility of Burmese government receptivity of some kind of Asian defense or mutual security agreement, and
 (4) the "grand strategy" approach of the Chinese Communists toward Burma and India.

Genocide and gross human rights violations in comparative perspective / Kurt Jonassohn with Karin Solveig Björnson. – New Brunswick, NJ: Transaction Publ., 1998. XIV, 338 p., indexes, bibliogr. p. 295-330.

ISBN 1560003146 (cloth) ; 0765804174

Note: Genocide and Gross Human Rights Violations offers actual studies of genocide in India, China, Colonial Africa, the Soviet Union, Burma, and the former Yugoslavia. Beyond narrating the most horrendous atrocities, the book focuses on the nature of gross human rights violations and genocides, and how best to stop them. Jonassohn formulates a typology that distinguishes events that have different origins, occur in different situations, and follow different processes. This work is motivated by the hope that it might be possible to reduce the number of genocides and to intervene in those that do occur.
