Making enemies : war and state building in Burma / Mary P. Callahan. – Ithaca, NY: Cornell Univ. Pr., 2003. XX, 268 p., illus., maps, index, bibliogr. p. 229-260.
ISBN 0-8014-4125-0 (cloth)

Contents: Coercion and the colonial state, 1826-1941 - The Japanese occupation, 1941-43 - Resistance and the United Front, 1943-45 - Making peace and making armies, 1945-48 - Insurgency and state disintegration, 1948-50 - Warfare and army building, 1950-53 - Warriors as state builders, 1953-62.

Note: "Burma's colonial past had seen a large imbalance between the military and civil sectors. That imbalance was accentuated soon after formal independence by one of the earliest and most persistent covert Cold War conflicts, involving CIA-funded Kuomintang incursions across the Burmese border into the People's Republic of China. Because this raised concerns in Rangoon about the possibility of a showdown with Communist China, the Burmese Army received even more autonomy and funding to protect the integrity of the new nation-state." "The military transformed itself during the late 1940s and the 1950s from a group of anticolonial guerrilla bands into the professional force that seized power in 1962. The army edged out all other state and social institutions in the competition for national power. Making Enemies draws on Callahan's interviews with former military officers and her archival work in Burmese libraries and halls of power. Callahan's unparalleled access allows her to correct existing explanations of Burmese authoritarianism and to supply new information about the coups of 1958 and 1962." – Book jacket.

Callard, David Arthur <b. 1950>

The case of Anna Kavan : a biography / D.A. Callard.– London : Peter Owen, 1992. 168 p., [4] p. of plates, illus., index, index, bibliogr. p. 161-163. – ISBN 0720608678

Note: Anna Kavan died in 1968 aged sixty-seven, a victim of the heroin to which she had been addicted for the last thirty years of her life. Yet she was a prolific writer and an accomplished painter. Her literary work, widely acclaimed, has been transl. into French, Spanish, Italian, Dutch, Danish and Japanese. She was born in Cannes of English parents and spent her childhood in Europe, California and England. Her life was haunted by a rich, glamorous mother, beside whom her father remains an indistinct figure. Twice married and divorced, she began writing while living with her first husband in Burma. To separate fact from fantasy is a near-impossible task for her biographer, since Anna Kavan destroyed most of her personal correspondence and all of her diaries save those covering an eighteen-month period. Even these she doctored and falsified: "I was about to become the world's best-kept secret; one that would never be told. What a thrilling enigma for posterity I should be," she wrote in an unpublished story. D. A. Callard has made a fine, sensitive and illuminating attempt to unravel the enigma.

The canon in Southeast Asian literatures : literatures of Burma, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, the Philip-pines, Thailand and Vietnam / ed. by David Smyth. – Rich-mond, Surrey: Curzon, 2000. X, 273 p., index, bibliogr. p. 254-273. – Papers "Canon in South East Asian Literatures", hosted by the Centre of South East Asian Studies at the School of Oriental and African Studies, Univ. of London, 5-7 April 1995. – ISBN 0-7007-1090-6

Contains:

Myanmar prose writing : tradition and innovation in the twentieth century / Annemarie Esche

Continuity and change in the Burmese literary canon / Anna J. Allot

Note: This set of papers is both timely and original in its focus on the canon in South-East Asian literatures. They vary in focus, from the broad panoramic survey of trends in a national literature to very specific discussions of the role of individuals in shaping a canon or the place of a particular text within a tradition, and from contemporary to traditional literature. - Book jacket.

Les territoires de l'opium : géopolitique dans les espaces du Triangle d'Or et du Croissant d'Or / Pierre-Arnaud Chouvy.

– 2001. 2 v. (535 f.), bibliogr. f. 32-75. – Paris 1, thèse doctorat Géographie, 2001.

Abstract : Le Triangle d'Or et le Croissant d'Or sont, depuis la Seconde Guerre mondiale, les deux plus importants espaces de production illicite d'opiacés au monde. Les cultures du pavot à opium, Papaver somniferum L., à partir desquelles sont produits l'opium, la morphine et l'héroïne, sont réparties dans les espaces frontaliers contigus de la Birmanie, du Laos et de la Thaïlande pour le premier, et dans ceux de l'Afghanistan, de l'Iran et du Pakistan pour le second. Lorsque l'on connaît l'origine géographique du pavot à opium, il est légitime de s'interroger quant à la nature des facteurs qui ont contribué à l'émergence de tels espaces de production illicite au cœur de l'Asie. Si la grande souplesse écologique du pavot somnifère a certes autorisé sa diffusion, et que sa large utilisation en tant que panacée l'a favorisée, les causes fondamentales de l'ancre territoriale et de la pérennisation des économies de l'opium dans le Triangle d'Or et le Croissant d'Or demeurent toutefois problématiques. C'est d'une géopolitique des territoires de l'opium dont il est ici question, à travers l'observation et l'analyse comparative de la distribution spatiale des productions illicites d'opiacés en Asie du Sud-Est et en Asie du Sud-Ouest. Le Triangle d'Or et le Croissant d'Or font preuve d'une étonnante permanence, mais ils sont également marqués par les mutations qui influent tant sur la localisation de leurs aires de culture du pavot, qui tendent désormais à la concentration, que sur l'existence et la direction des axes du narcotrafic, lesquels ont récemment été multipliés de façon importante. Quant à la consommation des opiacés, elle évolue aussi, notamment le long des axes du trafic, augmentant dans les espaces de production dits "traditionnels" et apparaissant récemment depuis la Russie jusqu'à la Chine, en passant par l'Asie centrale. La genèse du Triangle d'Or et du Croissant d'Or s'inscrit dans l'histoire du pavot à opium et dans celle des relations que les sociétés humaines ont développées avec les opiacés, notamment à travers l'exploitation commerciale que les empires coloniaux européens ont pu faire de ces substances.

Historical values and modes of leadership in Myanmar : assessment of roots of value among Christian leaders in Yangon / by Cin Do Kham. – 1998. XIII, 191 l., illus., map. – Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, PhD. thesis 1998.

Note: This research examined the historical, religious, and cultural influences on the perceptions and practices of leadership among the Burmese churches in Myanmar. The purpose was to assess the roots of values and modes among Christian leaders in Myanmar, formerly called Burma.

To identify the sources of leadership values and their impact upon Christian leaders in Myanmar, ethnographic interview were conducted in the capital city of Yangon, Myanmar. Twenty-one prominent Christian leaders were interviewed with four major questions composed of influences from (1) historical kings, (2) British colonial system, (3) Western Missionaries, and (4) Buddhism and social cultural values.

The precedent literature initially suggests that the Burmese society has a rich historical heritage. Ethnographic interviews and data analysis show that the leadership perceptions and practices among church leaders in Myanmar have been adopted from the monarchical values, British colonial values, western missionaries' values, biblical values, and Buddhist / socio-cultural values.

The most significant factors which influence church leadership in Myanmar are socio-cultural values, which reflect inherited dictatorial leadership styles from generation to generation. In Burmese society, leadership is seen as a position of power, authority, and control. Cultural expectations and practices reinforce such concepts in the society, which, in turn influence church leadership. Authoritarian leadership style is evident in the society. Although Christian leaders conceptually understand biblical servant leadership, they find themselves compelled to meet cultural expectations.

Clemente Vismara il santo dei bambini / a cura di Piero Gheddo. – Bologna: Editrice missionaria italiana, 2004. 158 p., [4] c. di tav., illus. – (Storia e vita missionaria) ISBN 88-307-1403-8

Note: Il volume offre una raccolta di 40 suoi articoli sui bambini e ragazzi, che mettono in risalto il suo metodo educativo: per educare bisogna amare il bambino, rispettarlo nelle sue libere scelte, nella sua maturazione psicologica e nel cammino di fede. Bisogna dargli buoni esempi e grandi ideali di vita, ma poi lasciarlo libero di realizzarli a modo suo.

She was a queen / by Maurice Collis. – London : Faber and Faber, 1937. 301 p., plates, ports., fold. map. – Herbert 677
 Note: Founded upon certain episodes related in a Burmese history called the Hmannan yazawin or Glass palace chronicle ... The fifth volume contains an account of the fall of the Pagan dynasty ... in and about the year 1287 ...
 Working on the translation ... made in 1923 by Professors Pe Maung Tin and G. H. Luce ... I have attempted to recreate a drama which has been considered the strangest and most memorable in Burmese history. – Pref.
