

Dr. Biswas's ACIDITY PILL.

ACIDITY and DYSPEPSIA are the two most common disorders of the day, and very few are so fortunate as to declare their immunity from these. In view of the fact that though apparently harmless in the embryonic stage, Acidity and Dyspepsia shatter and undermine the constitution in the end and lead to its total wreckage, it must be held that they are dangerous in their incipient stages.

THE PROPOSED SEDITION LAW.

The more one examines the new legislation proposed by the Government of India with regard to the Indian Press, the more mischievous and perilous that legislation is seen to be.

Lord Elgin, Mr. Chalmers and the Times agree in saying that the necessity for the new legislation has been brought to light by recent events.

and any other Press in India, and (b) that it follows the "sound and healthy guiding principle" of the English law.

I read native papers myself week after week, and never see anything there at all approaching sedition or even disloyalty or disrespect to English rule.

LONELY.

I was enjoying a modified form of that detestable thing, called a rest cure, in which solitude and separation from everything one likes best, are the principal elements.

A friend had sent me a beautiful bunch of white chrysanthemums. I had arranged them loosely in an old blue and white Chinese vase, and put them in the middle of my supper-table, where they might enliven my evening meal.

What is it, Mary? I contrived to ask. Only a nasty curlew, my dear, off the chrysanthemums. But I've killed him," she said cheerfully.

THE KAIRA RIOTS.

A SPECIAL correspondent of the Advocate of India sends the following particulars regarding the recent rising in Guzerat - Chakalasi is a small village, and counting the number of villages adjacent to it, the whole number of the inhabitants is estimated at about three thousand.

I found myself wondering how he had spent the day, and whether it had seemed as interminable to him as it had to me. I felt convinced that it had.

The next evening I found him waiting for me when I came down to supper. And the next, and the next. On the fourth evening it struck me that he was distinctly thinner than the first time I saw him. He was probably starving!

A day or two later, when I was down to my supper, he had disappeared. I turned the vase round and investigated the blossoms carefully.

Indeed, I should have missed him at once if he had disappeared again. I began to look upon him as a companion at my solitary meal.

He had been there nearly a fortnight when the chrysanthemums began to show signs of withering.

What is it, Mary? I contrived to ask. Only a nasty curlew, my dear, off the chrysanthemums. But I've killed him," she said cheerfully.

I said nothing. How could I explain to her what she had done? How could I expect her to understand, even if I did? She would think I was going off my head.

THE ENGLISH PRESS ON SEDITION BILL.

THE Indian Government is plunging deeper and deeper into the mire. What a record of "blessings" the past year has brought to that unhappy country!

EUROPEAN IMMUNITY FROM PLAGUE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "TIMES OF INDIA."

SIR, If the European is not immune from plague in Europe, he is certainly immune from plague in India.

The same immunity of Europeans has never been observed either in Bombay or any other part of India from cholera, for India is covered with the graves of Europeans who have succumbed to cholera.

THE position of the Press in India is clearly in peril. The Viceroy and his Council seem to have lost their heads in this as in other matters.
